A TRAGEDY IN TWO ACTS Marcus Einfeld and Teresa Brennan by Fiona Harari

Marcus Einfeld, former Federal Court judge and human rights champion. Teresa Brennan, a well connected, sometimes controversial US-based Australian academic.

Both Marcus Einfeld and Teresa Brennan had spent years establishing demanding careers and international reputations to create two lives that exuded success. The truth was a lot more complicated.

In 2006 Einfeld received a speeding fine. Rather than pay, the former judge told a court that Brennan had been driving his car. In reality she had been dead for three years.

Through an unlikely chain of events Einfeld's lie was exposed, with unimaginable consequences. His world, and virtually every honour he had earned, rapidly disappeared.

And his old friend Brennan, with her amazing life and her suspicious death, was suddenly, posthumously, attracting attention.

This is the remarkable story of two outstanding Australians who lived large, and who, ultimately, have been bound by tragedy.

Fiona Harari is an award-winning journalist who began her career at The Age in 1984. She has worked for Time (Australia) magazine, was a senior writer with The Australian for thirteen years, and also works in television, on past programs including Enough Rope and Elders.
