SETTLING THE OFFICE

The Australian Prime Ministership from Federation to Reconstruction

by Paul Strangio, Paul 't Hart and James Walter

'A timely study of the most powerful office in the land. A must read for citizens and aspiring prime ministers alike.'

GEORGE MEGALOGENIS

The prime ministership is indisputably the most closely observed and keenly contested office in Australia. How did the office grow to become the pivot of national political power?

Settling the Office chronicles the development of the prime ministership from its rudimentary early days following Federation through to the powerful, institutionalised prime-ministerial leadership of the postwar era.

Paul Strangio is Associate Professor of Politics in the School of Social Sciences at Monash University.

Paul 't Hart is Professor of Public Administration, Utrecht School of Governance, Utrecht University, the Netherlands.

James Walter is Professor of Politics in the School of Social Sciences at Monash University.

'... an authoritative account of those who held the office in its first half-century, one that explains how they made it a position of national leadership.' STUART MACINTYRE

RRP Hardback $49.99
